Who we help

- Medium to large corporations
- Professional associations
- Professionals at all levels

How we help

DineHero helps employees engage with your corporation better by allowing to have lunch with colleagues from different teams and departments even in the company's cafeteria.

Small-group lunches build camaraderie and boost productivity

Instead of occasional group luncheon or networking events, DineHero can help build a company's culture in a continual and economic way.

“Break individual and team silos; boost open-communication and productivity”

---

Promote cross-functional interactions

Employees can easily set up lunches in the cafeteria or a nearby restaurant, and invite colleagues from other teams. Or simply sit and wait until someone joins the events.

Any DineHero user can proactively organize events and invite others.

Increase staff retention and reduce attrition

Using informal ways to bring colleagues together such as sharing meals as part of their day can foster deeper work relationships and can strengthen bond to the company.

Help new hires engage with your corporation from Day One

DineHero also helps new hires and interns get onboard faster and get exposure to different teams.

DineHero is a great tool to network with other professionals at business conferences as well.
